CONNALLYS HERE FOR 'TEXAS'

Governor To Dedicate Map, Historical Markers

A relief map and two historical markers will be dedicated in Randall County Friday by Texas Gov. John B. Connally while the State's highest ranking official is here for a "TEXAS" performance in Palo Duro Canyon State Park.

The governor, along with officers from the Randall County Historical Survey Committee, will begin the dedicatory ceremonies at 7 p.m. in the park. Mrs. Terry C. Martin is chairman of the survey group.

Invitations to the ceremonies have been sent to the 254 county committees of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee. Charles Woodburn of Amarillo, president, and Truett Latimer of Austin, executive director, are scheduled to attend the dedicatory ceremonies, Mrs. Martin said.

The relief map, a 10 x 10 granite slab prepared by the Wallace Monument Company of Clarendon, shows the early Texas Panhandle and cattle brands of the area.

The map, which is located on a large pylon at the entrance to the Pioneer Amphitheatre, was dedicated in memory of the late Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Warner, pioneers of the area, by their children.

One of the markers, which is located at the Panhandle Plains Historical Museum, designates the Charles Goodnight Memorial Trail, and the other, near the museum annex, is for the site of an early barbed wire fence in the Panhandle.

Wording on the Charles Goodnight Memorial Trail marker reads:

"The highway from this museum to the Palo Duro Canyon State Park (12 Mi. E) approximates course used by Charles Goodnight, outstanding Texas Cowman and trail blazer, when he trailed 1600 cattle from Colorado to found first ranch on the staked plains of Texas in 1876.

"He entered precipitous Palo Duro Canyon by way of Old Comanche Indian Trail; drove thousands of buffalo from what is now park area; established his home ranch a few miles farther down canyon.

"Goodnight was born in Illinois, March 5, 1836. At age of 9 he rode bareback to Texas behind covered wagon driven by his parents; he hunted with Caddo Indians beyond the frontier at 14; guided Texas Rangers fighting Comanche and Kiowas at 25; blazed cattle trails about 2,000 mi. long with Oliver Loving at 30.

"In partnership with John G. Adair, he expanded his original Palo Duro Ranch into the Giant JA and other holdings of more than a million acres and 100,000 cattle. He preserved the buffalo, founded a college, encouraged the settlement of the plains and led in a long fight for law

Plainview Child Drowns At Buffalo

A nine-year-old Plainview child drowned in about three feet of water at the Buffalo Lake National Wildlife Refuge Saturday afternoon.

Bennie Rodriguez Perez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Solano Bennie Perez of 2002 Independence, was fishing with his 11-year-old brother, Romeo, when he disappeared in the shallow waters of the refuge south of the old headquarters building.

Officers said the youth was wading and casting and had started swimming back to the shore when he disappeared.

Visitors at the lake, aided by State Game Warden and refuge personnel, formed a human chain in an attempt to locate the Perez boy. He was found after about a 15-minute search.

Mike McBroom, an employee at the refuge, attempted mouth-to-mouth resuscitation in order to revive the boy until an emergency corps from the Canyon Fire Department could arrive

Retail Merchants Request Holiday

Retail merchants committee of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce has requested that local businesses observe the Fourth of July (Independence Day) as a national holiday by closing the establishment.

A number of Canyon businesses will be closed for the holiday along with the Canyon Post Office, City Hall, Randall County Courthouse offices and the two banks here, First National Bank of Canyon and the West Texas State Bank.

Closing will be observed on Thursday, July 4, and the businesses, governmental offices, and banks here will be open during regular business hours on Friday.

Drama Will Begin Third Year Friday

Texas Gov. and Mrs. John B. Connally are expected here Friday when the curtain is raised on the third season of "TEXAS" in Palo Duro Canyon State Park.

The chief executive, who attended a "TEXAS" performance here last summer, was invited to the special pre-opening presentation by L. Pete Gilvin, president of the show's sponsoring Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation.

Before the 8:55 curtain, the governor will help dedicate a 10 x 10 relief map at the entrance to the Pioneer Amphitheatre and two historical survey markers erected by members of the Randall County Historical Survey Committee.

Dedicatory ceremonies for all three designations will be at 7 p.m. in the canyons at the Pioneer Amphitheatre.

Others attending the special showing today will be members of the Heritage Foundation and their guests and members of the press.

Chinch Bugs 'Bug' Farmers

Some Randall County farm families were "bugged" last week - literally and figuratively "bugged."

It seems an unusual hoard of chinch bugs, which resemble non-flying fleas, came from their home in wheat stalks and began invading homes, barns and the like in search of nourishment.

Randall County Agent John Brazzil said he had received many, many telephone calls concerning the unwelcome varmints last week but none were reported this week.

The chinch bugs, it seems, invade the stalks of wheat seeking moisture, but abandon the plant just before the harvest. Brazzil said the insects did not damage the grain crop and usually disappear within a few days after their arrival.

Something In A Name

John E. Cook of Canyon is among 1,346 students enrolled in vocational or technical training at Oklahoma State Tech, Okmulgee, Okla., this summer.

Cook is enrolled in a culinary arts course.

The 65-odd members in the cast, which is composed of people from throughout the Panhandle area, will be performing each evening during the run of the musical drama which ends Labor Day, Sept. 2.

The play, which deals with early-day hardships of a pioneer family in the Panhandle area, was written by Paul Green, Pulitzer Prize winning author from Chapel Hill, N. C.

Isaac Van Grove composed the music for the production. He and Green collaborated on "TEXAS" as they had previously done on "Cross and Sword" and the "Stephen Foster Story", two other outdoor drama productions.

Ticket prices for the season are $4, $2.75 and $1.75 for adults in the upper, reserve and general admission seats, respectively, Friday through Sunday, and $3.50, $2.25, and $1.50 for adults Monday through Thursday and $3.50, $1.50 and $1 for children. Children's tickets will be $4, $1.75 and $1.25 Friday through Sunday.

Reservations for the season may be made at the Heritage Foundation offices in Canyon, the Pioneer Amphitheatre, or Cooper and Melin in Amarillo. Free gate admission to the (See DRAMA, Page 7)

Newsman To 'TEXAS'

Among those guests at the "TEXAS" performance Friday will be representatives from the Associated Press and United Press International.

Bob Johnson, state bureau chief for AP, and Bill Payett of UPI will fly in Friday for the performance in Palo Duro Canyon State Park which begins at 8:55 p.m. Both are from Dallas.

Also to represent the news media will be Bob Tonsing of the Wichita, Kans. Eagle and Beacon; Kent Ruth of the Daily Oklahoman; Joan Quarm of the El Paso Herald Post; and Ray Kneit of Mobile Home Reporter and Recreational Vehicle News in Dallas. Newsman from the Dallas News, Dallas Herald, Fort Worth Star Telegram and a Wichita Falls publication are also expected for the "TEXAS" opening.

Friends of the "TEXAS" sponsoring the Panhandle Heritage Foundation are sending four air planes to fly the newsmen to the production. David Kritzer of the production is in charge of the fly-in project.

Flexibility Key For JH Building

Canyon's new junior high school building should be built for change in teaching methods in the future was the consensus of four educators from West Texas State University who met with the school board Monday night.

Meeting with the board were Dr. Kenneth Laycock, dean of the school of education; Dr. Robert Splawn, assistant professor of education administration; Dr. Jim Russell, professor of education administration; and Dr. Fred Stoker, professor of education administration and head of the department.

Dr. Laycock said he felt the new building should be constructed in such a way as to permit changes in the future without requiring any immediate changes in curriculum.

"I think our curriculum will be in a state of change forever," said Dr. Laycock. "I don't think you can predict the type of curriculum which will be used even three years from now. If you have movable walls you can adapt."

Arguments were strongly in favor of movable walls which would permit changing the sizes of class rooms to permit such innovations as team teaching. The educators also favored carpeted floors. They pointed out that carpet would in the long run be cheaper than tile and would enhance acoustics thereby aiding both teaching and learning.

"About all you can plan for is change," said Dr. Splawn. "We need flexibility in a building."

Show Ducats Are Sought

Anyone with tickets to the Friday opening of "TEXAS" that will not be used are asked to contact the Panhandle Heritage Foundation officer here immediately.

Last-minute reservation necessary to obtain as many tickets as possible, a foundation spokesman said. Even single seats will be accepted.

The musical drama opens Friday in the Palo Duro Canyon State Park with Texas Gov. and Mrs. John Connally expected to attend. The show will play each evening until Sept. 2 except Tuesday.

Reagan To Visit Amarillo

Governor Ronald Reagan of California will be in Amarillo July 19 to speak at a fund raising dinner for the 18th Congressional District Republican Party.

Arrangements for Governor Reagan's visit to the Panhandle were made by Congressman Bob Price, representative of the 18th Congressional District.

Jim Campbell, Republican District Committeeman, announced in Pampa that Congressman Price also will be honored at the dinner.

"The time and place for the fund raising event in Amarillo will be announced as soon as local arrangements are completed," Campbell said.

The California Governor's appearance in the Panhandle is expected to attract Republicans from over the entire state. Tickets should be available by the end of the week.

Official Blasts County Tax Man

Commissioner Bill Butler this week charged that County Tax Assessor-Collector Bill Money has never asked that rural taxes be raised.

Butler's statement came at a meeting of Randall County commissioners court.

Butler said Money's statement that he (Money) has been trying to get commissioners court to raise rural valuations for the past several years simply is not so.

Money last week said that in the past he has tried to equalize taxes by assessment but that his efforts were nullified by commissioners court.

Butler said Money had been quoted by the press as saying he has asked commissioners court to raise rural property valuations every year for the past 15 years.

"Minutes have been checked for the past five years and they do not show any such statement made by Mr. Money to this court," declared Butler. "This is not to alleviate our responsibility to the people but I think it is something they should know."

Butler directed his remarks to newsmen present.

Butler and Money have been carrying on a running verbal battle for several months. Their differences flared into the open last spring when Butler publicly challenged Money for allowing campaign book matches and other paraphernalia to be dispensed at the county tax offices.

Monday's statement by Butler came after a threat last week by an Amarillo man to (See OFFICIAL, Page 7)

Set Area-Wide Tourist Drive

Chamber of Commerce officials from 5 area communities which have joined forces in a "Land of Coronado" tourist promotion will meet in Amarillo Monday afternoon to help put up the first of 23 outdoor advertising boards to be used during the summer-long promotion.

A joint venture of the Amarillo, Canyon, Claude, Pampa and Stratford Chambers of Commerce, the "Land of Coronado" program will use window cards and table cards to acquaint tourists with the area's attractions. The sponsors of the program are hopeful that those businesses most directly benefited by tourist trade will utilize other advertising media to supplement the efforts of the five communities.

The board which will be used for the kickoff ceremonies at 2:15 p.m. Monday is located at Texas Tourist Information Center on I 40 east of Amarillo and will welcome tourists to Texas.

Irrigated Crop Being Gathered

Irrigated wheat harvest in Randall County is about one-half completed, according to Agricultural Agent John Brazzil.

Brazzil, who said dryland wheat harvest was all but completed in most sections of the county, explained that the irrigated grain is producing as much as 50 bushels per acre in some instances. Other reports show more in other sections of the county.

Terming the irrigated wheat harvest as "running on schedule", Brazzil noted that favorable weather conditions had allowed both the farmer and custom cutter to finish the cutting operation.

"We're now in the center of

Don Mitchell Jones

I have heard the version of each concerning their disagreement, but I am no closer to the truth of the matter than before I had heard either.

25 to 30 thousand acres of irrigated wheat harvest," he declared.

He noted that farmers were using elevators in Canyon, Happy, Ralph Switch, Pullman Switch, Bushland and Dawn, as well as field stations throughout the county.

Brazzil explained the dryland wheat yields had been as low as five and as many as 20 bushels per acre in some instances. There has been a slight weed problem due to a sparse stand in much of the dryland crop.

While most elevators locally are paying about $1.23 and upwards for wheat, Don Lloyd, with the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office, said loan rate on wheat in Randall County was $1.26 per bushel.

Ranges and pastures in the county are "good", Brazzil said, noting that some sections of the area are dry even though an above amount of moisture has fallen here this summer.

Should present weather conditions continue, Brazzil said most of the harvest should be completed by the end of the week.

Bruce Winn is shown here with his combine in his field of irrigated wheat 8 miles northwest of Canyon. The crop is yielding about 40 bushels to the acre of grain weighing 62 pounds per bushel.

LEO ROBINSON, fire arms instructor from Dallas with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, is shown demonstrating some of the finer points of police in pistol handling to Charles Powers, Canyon Police patrolman. Robinson has been in Canyon this week conducting a special training school for Canyon Police Department personnel.

FROM THE

CANYON RIM

I welcome a move in the legislature to up the tuition in state supported colleges and universities for out of state students.

Why should Texas taxpayers foot the bill for educating students from New York or New Jersey?

The Texas House passed a bill this week which would triple the tuition for out of state students. Presently the tuition is $200 per semester. If the House measure becomes law, this will be increased to $600 a semester.

University officials here tell me that Texas tuition for out of states presently is cheaper than resident tuition in many states.

I talked only this week to some out of state students who frankly admitted that they attend West Texas State University because the tuition is cheaper than in their home states.

Of course we are glad to have them come here but not at the expense of Texans who must pay taxes to support institutions of higher learning.

On the other hand, I am dead set against increasing resident tuition. Every means must be used to make education available for all who have the inclination and mental ability to absorb it.

Canyon will again be welcoming the governor of Texas Friday.

Governor John Connally has paid an unusual amount of attention to Canyon and the Panhandle since he moved into the governor's mansion almost six years ago.

He has spoken here on several occasions and was on hand last year for the opening of "TEXAS."

John Connally has made Texas a good governor during trying times. He is articulate and able and has an air of senecity about him which inspires

"So acute has the sense of alarm and despair become among certain people," writes Frady in the Wallace article, "that at a party in a Montgomery apartment one evening not long after Lurleen's inauguration, a gentle, bespectacled, exquisitely civilized Montgomery dowager suddenly blurted, 'I wish he were dead. I wish someone would kill him. He ought to die. He's awful, terrible. I would kill him myself if I had the chance--I would.'"

If George Wallace is indeed murdered within the next few months, then Frady and the management of The Saturday Evening Post deserve to be charged as accessories.

The Amarillo newspapers have led the battle for upping the valuation on rural property in Randall County.

City property owners contend that rural property owners are not carrying their fair share of the tax load. Maybe there's some merit to this contention.

However, the Amarillo newspapers serve the entire Panhandle. Why haven't The Globe-Times and The Daily News sought equalization over the entire area they serve?

The Canyon News last week pointed out that inequity is far greater in Potter County, seat of The Daily News and The Globe-Times, than in Randall County.

Chief Deputy to the Potter County tax assessor-collector, O. R. Ewing, said that in Potter County good grass land is on the county tax rolls at from $7 to $20 as compared to $35 an acre in Randall; dry land farms at $10 to $20 an acre as compared to $55 in Randall; and irrigated land at $30 an acre as compared to $175 in Randall.

The real can of worms is in Hutchinson County where the same group which owns The Amarillo Globe-Times and The Daily News have vast real estate holdings.

Lucy Berry, with the Hutchinson County tax office, reports that grass land there is on the rolls at $3.35 an acre while a house in Borger is taxed on a basis of 16 1/2 percent of its fair market value.

The tax on a $20,000 home in Borger would be about the same as the tax on about 1,550 acres of ranch land.

Dry farm land is on the Hutchinson County tax roll at $6 an acre and irrigated farmland at $10 an acre.

If the Amarillo newspapers are going to dress in the armor of Launcelot and right the wrongs in Randall County, I'd like to see them joust a bit with the commissioners in Potter and Hutchinson Counties.

Canyon Legion Tied For Lead

The Canyon American Legion remains tied with Tascosa the South Zone Legion baseball lead.

Canyon extended its record to 4-1 with a 17-11 victory over Tascosa.

Tulua opened the game by striking for four runs off Canyon starter Keith Keeling. Canyon came back for two runs in the bottom of the first with John Teters getting a two-run single. Canyon added two runs in the fifth to tie the score, 4-4.

Tulua regained the lead in the sixth with two runs on four singles. Canyon finally took the lead in the bottom of the sixth with four runs. In a wild seventh inning, Canyon scored 9 runs on only one hit. Four Tulua pitchers issued six walks and hit four batters in the hour-long seventh frame. Tulua added one run in the eighth and four in the ninth, but fell short, 17-11. John Teters earned his second victory for Canyon and is without a loss. Mahaney was tagged with the loss for Tulua. The Tulua pitchers allowed only six hits, but gave up 17 walks and hit 7 batters.

Canyon and Tascosa lead the South zone with records of 4-1. Hereford and Caprock stand 3-2. Clarendon is 2-3; Groom stands 1-4; and Tulua has an 0-4 mark.

LL Race Tightens

The race is tightening up in the little league majors division and it's beginning to look like the championship will be decided along about July 9 (the final game of the season). One half game separates the Yanks and Dodgers with each showing 4 losses on the season. The top two teams have two games remaining to be played against each other, plus strong competition from the other teams in the loop who want to "beat the leaders".

The Yankees have a combination that has been tough to beat in the form of a brother battery of Andy Cooper pitcher and Ken Cooper catcher. This brother combination has combined for a 2 win 1 lost record so far this season. This is the only such combination in the Randall County Little League.

Standings through June 25:

VISUAL DEVELOPMENT KEYED TO ACHIEVEMENT OF STUDENTS

"All children learn things differently," said Mrs. Jerry Jacobs who serves as clinician for the Developmental Vision Reading Clinic being operated here through the offices of Dr. Burwell Southern, optometrist.

"We are here to train children who have a visual perception problem and to train them to discriminate between various sizes and shapes without having to use the sense of feeling to aid vision."

"Reading is the interpretation of sizes and shapes through letters and phonics as parts of words," she said. "Students who cannot work with circles, triangles, rectangles, squares and diamonds need help to correct this imbalance of their coordination."

To correct the problem, according to Mrs. Jacobs, the student uses a template with forms cut out to trace the design for a minimum of 10 times and then is instructed to draw the design freehand for comparison.

"Writing," said Mrs. Jacobs, "is simply a copy of patterns and reading is the interpretation of these patterns."

Through the Developmental Vision Reading Clinic here, students learn their relationship with other objects and space. An interpretation of this visual motor control but is a broom-handle painted in various stripes with a suspended ball on a string. The student must alternate from left to right as the ball swings in order to coordinate the ball and handle to keep a continuous rhythmic swing.

Also for coordination, students use a checkerboard wheel which is automated to turn in circles. Students take small pegs with cup-shaped tops and insert, while the wheel revolves, in matching circles. The student is then expected to place a ping-pong ball on top of the revolving wheel until a series is completed.

Other equipment of the school include a tape recorder for listening disabilities where the student reads short stories into the recorder and then listens on the playback for incorrect usage of vowels and consonants.

Mrs. Jacobs earned her bachelor's degree in elementary education from West Texas State University and is presently working on a masters degree.

While working as a reading consultant at Edna schools, Mrs. Jacobs said she was observing a teacher and a child with an apparent problem.

"I watched that child and tried to figure out why his eyes and hands just didn't seem to work together," she stated. "Then, with my interest aroused, I checked into a number of books on the subject and wrote to Florida for literature on visual perception."

When asked by Dr. Southern in December to take over the new Developmental Vision Reading Clinic here, Mrs. Jacobs was interested and agreed to take part in a special workshop at the University of Houston.

The office here was opened only months ago, in fact the first student tested for the school was in late March. The testing program takes from 1 1/2 to 3 hours and then several hours in recording and evaluating the tests to determine if the child may be helped through the clinic. Parents are then called in for consultation.

"We have tested a number that do not need the training clinic here," said Mrs. Jacobs. "The class size is a maximum of four students for one hour twice weekly."

At present, according to Mrs. Jacobs, some eight children are participating in the clinic here. A number of those in the clinic are not bogged down in school nor have a physical eye defect but rather have suppressed vision in one eye, or are uncoordinated in activities.

Students in the clinic are often referred by a teacher, a doctor, or a parent realizing that the student is in need of some type of help.

"They know something is wrong--but can't pinpoint the cause--and that's why we are here to try to find the cause of the student's apparent inability to grasp his full limit in learning."

Mrs. Jerry Jacobs, Instructor

Why Does Our Visual Development School Exist?

BY DR. BURWELL SOUTHERN

Teachers, school administrators and optometrists have noticed during the past several years that more and more students who have average or better than average intelligence are having trouble and actually failing in school.

After much study and research on this subject, the conclusions show that 80% of these students were not visually prepared for close work or school work.

A few need glasses, but most of the students had normal eyesight--the ability to see 20/20 at far and near. The one factor that showed up in all of these 80% was that they had not developed or learned how to use their eyes properly in seeing. The ability to visually see is learned, just like a child learns to walk and talk. A parent can see the mistakes a child makes while learning to walk and talk--but they are unable to teach a child to visually prepare himself to see properly.

Although this problem has been present for several years, these signs begin to show up in the first grade. The parent will say that their child is not mature enough and generally they do not know the real reason.

The second school year the parents will generally say that their child just doesn't try or apply himself. This is understandable, since the parent is not trained in the ability to recognize a visual problem.

By the third year the parent knows something is wrong. Their child is now in a special reading class or in the low reading group at school. Now they take their child to a doctor for an eye examination. If the doctor is not familiar with this type of problem and I'm sorry to say that most aren't, he will say that the child doesn't need glasses. Then the parent thinks that his child has normal vision.

I myself have been guilty of this, and it disturbed me very much. During the past six years great steps have been made in this field by educators, psychologists and by optometrists. By doing a great amount of reading, attending several seminars and by visiting in other optometrist's offices, I was able to prepare myself to meet this challenge.

Since this is a school and optometric approach, we must work with the school on this program. This is also why I have a school teacher in my clinic.

Now we are able to test a child on how they perform visually and to program the proper training to correct their visual performance. Since the problem has been with the child for several years, this usually takes time to correct. We also attempt to bring the student up to his proper grade level.

It has been said that the reason a mother loves her child so much, is not what the child has done for the mother, but what the mother has done for the child. This is what we are attempting to do--give the best possible visual service to our children.

Tim Word shows the Tem-Plate training method for distinguishing between sizes and shapes as an aid to better reading.

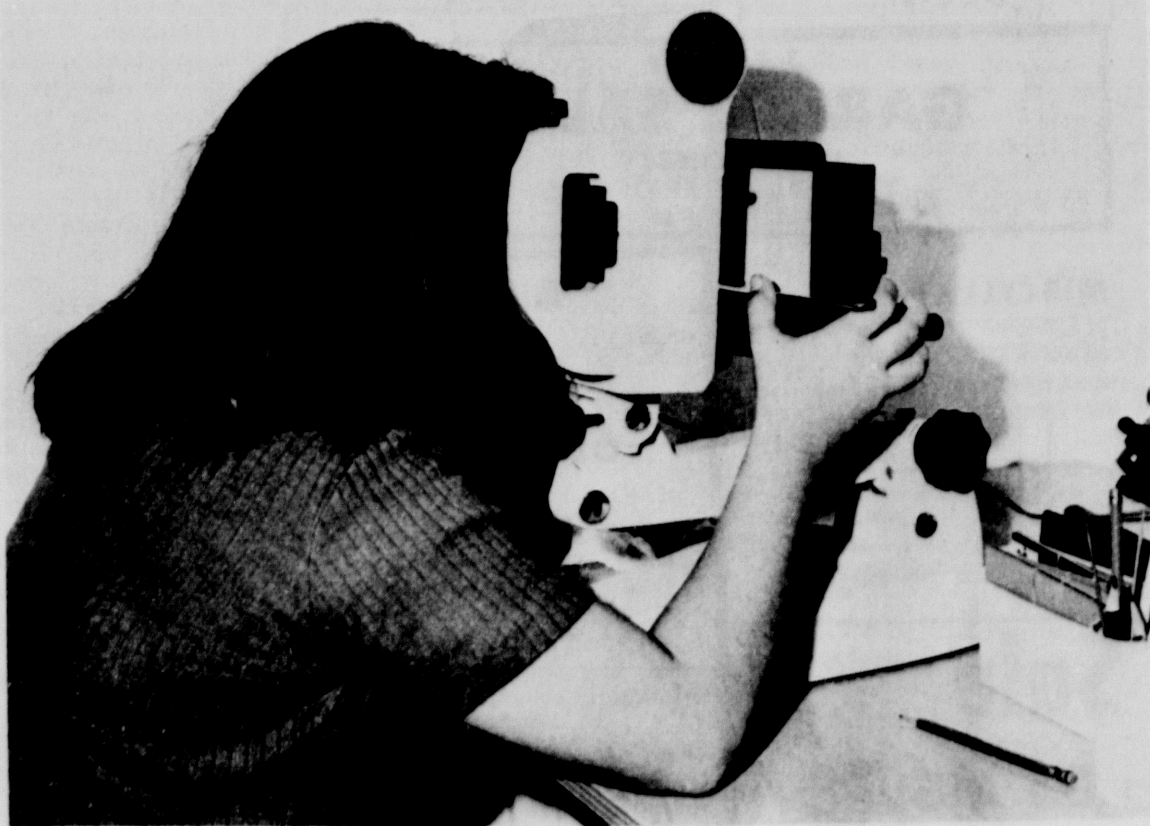

Gary Phillips works with auditory discrimination in connection with visual reading. Errors are recorded in the tape which the child detects as he listens to the recording and reads at the same time.

Tim Word uses the correct eye scope designed to improve eye-hand co-ordination.

"This foremost plainsman died March 12, 1929; and is buried at Goodnight, Texas." The other survey marker, for the site of an early barbed wire fence in the Panhandle, has the following wording:

"In the latter 1800's, when fencing was needed in the treeless Texas Panhandle, the solution proved to be barbed wire. Joseph F. Glidden of Illinois devised and by 1876 was manufacturing (with I. L. Ellwood) the first really practical barbed wire on the market. H. B. Sanborn was sent to Texas as their agent, and remained to become a builder of the Panhandle.

"Wanting free access to water and grass, ranchers at first resisted fencing, cowboys disliked it, as fewer range riders were needed on fenced lands. The old-timers grew bitter, because of blocked trails--herds had to be hauled rather than driven to market.

"Yet newcomers wanted fencing, in order to have use of land purchased for ranching. Merchants and city-builders wanted fences, to assure settlement.

"The T-Anchor, owned by Jot Gunter and Wm. B. Munson, real estate investors of Grayson County, built a line fence on this site in 1881, enclosing a 240,000-acre horse pasture. Also built in this area, by popular subscription, was a 'drift' fence to hold cattle back from wandering south in blue northers and blizzards.

"Barbed wire gradually came into general use. It saved the cattle industry, because improvements in breeding and feeding were possible on fenced ranges."

Story of the W. A. Warner family history is traced by their daughter, Mrs. Victoria Warner Tappan, in "History of Armstrong County, 1876-1965".

In the story, Mrs. Tappan relates that Phebe Kerrick arrived in Claude for the first time in October of 1896 in order to see some land she was considering purchasing.

Dr. Warner's parents, the Rev. Peter and Adelaide Victoria Scriven Warner, purchased land in Armstrong County in the 1870's for thirty three and one third cents per acre.

Dr. Warner arrived in Claude for the first time May 31, 1897 to make his home and establish a medical practice. For some time he was the only doctor in the county and some of his patients had to travel as far as 35 miles away, which would mean a round trip of some 70 miles to make a house call.

By February 1898 Dr. Warner was established in Armstrong County as a doctor and had purchased a home. He planned to return to Illinois, marry Phebe Kerrick, his college sweetheart, and bring her to Claude.

Instead of leaving his patients to make the Illinois trip, Dr. Warner persuaded Phebe Kerrick to come to Claude.

Mrs. Warner laughingly told friends later that "I'll bet I'm one of the few brides who made her wedding trip in a caboose."

Years later Mrs. Warner wrote, "Four children--two daughters and two sons--have come to bless our home: Kerrick, William, Victoria and Greeley. Our second child, who was his father's namesake, was with us fourteen and a half years. Then, after a day and a night of illness, he suddenly left us. But not until he had taught us some of the most beautiful lessons in life, on of which was to Love All Boys. His father was Scout Master when William went away. He was the first little scout to go. After attending college, the other children are all out of the business and professional world many miles from home."

In 1909 Dr. and Mrs. Warner opened the Warner Building, which housed a drug store, Dr. Warner's office, the county rest rooms, a barber shop, the Claude News office and a printing shop.

Dr. Warner, who was interested in youth, was organizer for the Boy Scouts of Armstrong County in 1912. He served the group as Scout Master for 20 years, except for two years he served in the US Army. For his Scout service, he received the Silver Beaver, highest award for a Scout. Boy Scouts of the area presented him with a gold watch.

Mrs. Warner worked with the young people of the Methodist Church and was active in the County, State and General Federation of Women's Clubs.

She also was known for her editorials, "The Phebe K. Warner Columns", that appeared in the Fort Worth Star Telegram, Amarillo Daily News and other Texas daily and weekly newspapers during the years 1916-1935.

Dr. and Mrs. Warner lived in the same home they were married in until they passed away. Dr. Warner died July 31, 1934 and Mrs. Warner ten months later, May 14, 1935.

park will be made after 6 p.m. to those attending the performances in the Amphitheatre.

Bus tours to "TEXAS" operate every evening from Amarillo and a barbecue dinner will be available before the opening of each performance.

Prices for the barbecue, which is catered by Bob Dowell of Amarillo, will be $1.75 for adults and $1 for children under six years old.

"TEXAS" was listed in the top 20 travel attractions over the United States by the National Association of Travel Organization for 1966 and 1967 and has been seen by more than 125,000 people from throughout the world.

The producers of the musical drama were awarded a George Washington Honor Medal in the category of Community Endeavors by the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge. "TEXAS" is also included in the program "Festivals USA", published by the US Travel Service.

Idea for the production began in 1960 when Mrs. Margaret Harper of Canyon read of Green's outdoor symphonic drama works in a "Readers Digest" article.

Green and John Parker of the University of North Carolina visited the canyons in August of 1960 at the invitation of Mrs. Harper and a temporary organization was founded the next May to acquaint the people of the area with the project.

In June of 1961, a dozen community representatives joined the Canyon organization to form the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation. In October the Parks Board of Texas approved the theatre in the parks and the foundation first officially met in November of 1961.

A campaign to raise funds was conducted in the summer of 1962 and the first unit of the theatre was constructed in January of 1963.

The first Sunrise Services in observance of Easter were held in the Amphitheatre in 1963 and the Texas Parks Board constructed rest rooms in May of the same year.

A production called "Fandangle" was brought to Canyon in June of 1964 but four of the five performances were rained out.

The winter and spring of 1964 saw the construction of a light and sound control building and 36,000 people attended a western show that summer entitled "Thundering Sounds of the West".

Dressing rooms and a concessions building, a gift of the State of Texas, were constructed during the spring of 1966 and the first showing of "TEXAS" was presented that summer before 60,662 people.

The project started in 1961 with $15,000 as "seed money" and contributions have been made in both money and gifts to the foundation since that time.

Ex-officio officers on the foundation board include Green, Will Odom, chairman of the Parks and Wildlife Commission; Gilvin, Jerry Mullican, superintendent of Palo Duro Canyon State Park; Mrs. Harper, William A. and Margaret E. Moore, directors; Dr. Crannell Tolliver, consultant for theatre equipment; Dr. John E. Green, music consultant; and Raymond Raillard, executive vice president.

Canyon board members include Mrs. Renna C. Bellah, Dr. Leta Boswell, Dr. James P. Cornette, Ruth Cross, Joe H. Gidden, Dr. J. A. Hill, Jerry N. LaGrone, A. W. Lair, David Levens, Mrs. Robert T. Lindsey, Mrs. R. A. Neblett, Mrs. Emil Olson, Dr. L. F. Sheffy, Don Standley, J. Lucien Upshaw, Bernard Warren and Mrs. Clyde Warwick.

ASC To Give Assistance

The Randall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee has been authorized to offer cost-share assistance for the modification of one irrigation well here to permit recharging the water-bearing formation.

Local ASC office manager Donald F. Lloyd said there are many requirements that must be met to qualify for the assistance and only one such well will be modified at the present. Cost-shares, however up to 70 percent of the cost of the modification may be paid.

"In addition to the requirements and specifications of the well itself," Lloyd said, "the producer must enter into an agreement with ASCS, the Soil Conservation Service and the Agricultural Research Service to permit evaluation of the project and the gathering of research data.

He said the new building should be adaptable to small groups, large groups, team teaching, conventional teaching and such educational aids as closed circuit television.

"If we have flexible walls, we can have that," he declared.

Dr. Splawn said carpeted school room floors create a better learning atmosphere and even help in school discipline.

Architect Russell Megert said carpet would be cheaper in the long run and would be easier maintained than tile.

"A central library is a good idea," declared Dr. Stoker. "We are going to be putting more of the responsibility for learning back on the individual."

Dr. Stoker also discussed the use of educational film and closed circuit TV.

"In any truly good school, you are going to find the library used a lot," said Dr. Russell.

"The role of the teacher is going to change," said Dr. Splawn. "We are going to have to rethink our methods to let students do some of their thinking. This (the library) ought to be a center of activity."

The educators predicted the future use of teaching machines. They said spelling and mathematics may soon be taught better by machines than by teachers.

Junior High School Principal Dan Trew and High School Principal Hobart McDonald reported a visit to John Glenn Junior High School in San Angelo. They said they were impressed with the flexibility of the building.

Dr. Laycock advised that an auditorium be included in the new building if possible. School Supt. Jerry Jacobs said present plans call for an auditorium but that if it is necessary to economize anywhere in the construction it will probably be done in connection with the auditorium.

"We are delighted to know we are moving in this direction," said Dr. Laycock.

No instructions were given the architect at the Monday night meeting.

In other business, the board voted to raise the salary of Tax Assessor-Collector Conway Kuykendall to $8,500 a year. He had been drawing $8,200.

At last week's meeting of the board, First National Bank of Dallas, Texas Bank & Trust Company of Dallas and First National Bank of Fort Worth submitting a common bid purchased $1,350,000 worth of Canyon Independent School District bonds at an effective interest rate of 4.4665 percent.

Window cards and table cards to be used at motels, service stations and eating places will have complete information on area tourist attraction.

The sponsoring Chambers of Commerce are aiming to stop as many as possible of the 10,000 tourist cars that pass through this area daily. They report that stopping 9 cars in a community overnight has the equivalent economic effect of adding an industry with an annual payroll of $100,000.

In addition to the chamber officials expected to participate in the ceremonies putting up the first poster is Ray Value of the Panhandle Outdoor Advertising and W. L. Pearson of the Southwestern Public Service Company.

The "Land of Coronado" tourist promotion was initiated by the Area Development Department of Southwestern Public Service Company, which designed the materials to be used.

Mets Still Undeclared

Zoning Hearing Slated

The date of July 17 was approved last week as the time for a public hearing concerning the proposed zoning standards for the City of Canyon.

City Commissioners, acting on a recommendation by the Planning and Zoning commissions, set the July date at 7:30 p.m. in the American Legion Building for the public hearing which will give local residents the opportunity to question any zoning changes proposed by Marvin Springer of Dallas.

Springer, urban planning consultant for the City of Canyon, has been working for more than a year preparing a new set of zoning standards, subdivision regulations and a master comprehensive plan for Canyon.

In other action, commissioners approved a low bid of $2,794 for a mowing tractor and $980 for a one-half cubic yard bucket from the International Harvester Company of Amarillo.

There were six other bidders for the machinery.

A proposal by A. L. Crossland that will allow the Canyon developer to use slant platting was also approved. The action had been earlier discussed by the planning and city commissions concerning an area in the southern section of Canyon.

The carrier has just completed a month of duty off the coast of Vietnam.

The Yorktown, a unit of the U. S. Seventh Fleet, is homeported at Long Beach, Calif., and provides anti-submarine protection for other Seventh Fleet units.

MUMPS VACCINE IS NOW VERY EFFECTIVE

Many people who rightly fear the effects of mumps, evidently do not know how easily it can be avoided. Mumps are more dangerous than people thought in past years. If a man of reproductive age gets this disease, the possibility exists that it can settle in the reproductive organs and cause sterility.

Many adults have forgotten whether or not they had mumps as a child. There is now a positive action skin test which will tell your physician. For, if you have not had mumps then the mumps vaccine is a "Must." It can prevent much potential harm.

COOK OF THE WEEK Shares Summer Favorites

Recipes for Raspberry Ribbon Pie, Chocolate Midgets and Orange Gelatin Sherbet Salad are shared with our readers this week by Mrs. Jack Jones of 706 Foster Lane.

Mrs. Jones, the former June Ward, was graduated from Muleshoe High School and attended West Texas State University where she majored in elementary education. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A.D. Ward, now live in Littlefield.

She married her husband on May 29, 1959.

He was also a native of Muleshoe, having received his high school degree there. He studied in business management at West Texas State University and is continuing courses at the university, where he serves as assistant director of student financial aids. He has been employed with the university since 1963.

He has a brother, Bob Jones, and a sister, Mrs. W.G. Harlan, both in Lubbock and another sister, Miss Billie Jones, in Muleshoe. His parents are deceased.

Mrs. Jones is a member of the Canyon Study Club, where she is serving as vice president. Her husband is a member of the Canyon Lions Club and is faculty advisor for Kappa Alpha Order fraternity at the university.

The Jones family are members of the First Baptist Church in Canyon.

They have a daughter and son, Mike, age 8, will be a third grade student this fall and hopes to join the scouts then. He would have enjoyed the summer Little League, but has been unable to play due to an illness.

Nikki, age 6, will be a second grade student this fall. She has a birthday this summer and is anticipating becoming a Brownie Scout.

Mrs. Jones related that her husband enjoys golf and is this summer putting in a yard at their new home. She said that her hobbies consist of reading and bridge.

Her recipes are:

IVAN SADLER, attendant at Palo Duro Canyon State Park, examines records at a one-quarter million dollar water system and filtration plant which went into operation last week. The new system, that is part of $542,000 in park improvements, treats water tapped from the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority's Lake Meredith.

New Facilities For Palo Duro

BY WAYNE BOARD

A one-quarter million dollar water system and filtration plant began treating water last week from the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority's Lake Meredith for use in Palo Duro Canyon State Park.

The water, said Park Attendant Ivan Sadler, can be treated at the filtration plant at the rate of 130,000 gallons per day and will service all park operations. At present, however, about 8,000 gallons per day is being treated.

A water outlet will provide free hot showers and laundry facilities in a newly constructed shower building, and two fire hydrants on the floor of the canyon. The new shower building is located between the fourth and fifth water crossings.

Water, he added, was formerly obtained from only one spring water tap at the cottonwood area and all other water was unfit for drinking due to its high mineral content.

Water from the aqueduct is now treated at the plant with lime, chlorine and a coagulant, aluminum sulfate, allowed to settle and filter into one of three storage tanks which can reserve a total of 70,000 gallons of water.

The work at the water treatment area is only part of $542,000 worth of expanded facilities—facilities that include everything from 45 additional camping units to a new concessions building.

Rock from old Civilian Conservation Corps, which was in operation during the 1930's,

3/4 cup flour

1/4 tsp. baking powder

1 cup nuts

1 tsp. vanilla

Melt butter in saucepan. Add sugar and chocolate. Cool slightly then stir in eggs, one at a time. Sift flour, measure. Add baking powder and sift again. Add flour and vanilla to chocolate mixture. Stir well and bake in lightly greased and floured 8 x 8 pan at 350 degrees for 30-35 minutes.

Frosting:

4 Tbsp. melted oleo

2 Tbsp. chocolate syrup

1 cup powdered sugar

1 tsp. vanilla

Combine and beat well to spreading consistency. Put on while brownies are warm.

ORANGE GELATINE SHERBET SALAD

1 lg. pkg. orange gelatin

2 3/4 cup boiling water

1 (6 oz) can frozen orange juice

1 (11 oz) can mandarin orange sections, drained

1 pint orange sherbet.

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add orange juice and orange slices. Stir in sherbet until dissolved. Pour into two quart mold or baking dish. Refrigerate covered until firm. Serve on crisp lettuce leaf with salad dressing accent.

MRS. JACK JONES gets an assist from son, Mike, 8, in selecting recipes to share with our readers this week. They share a summer Raspberry Ribbon Pie, Chocolate Midgets, and Orange Gelatin Sherbet Salad.

Military Wives Planning Event

An informal social and barbecue will be held July 8 for the Military Wives Club of Canyon.

full time in 1928.

His brother, Levi, had begun working at the bank in 1923 and continues as chairman of the board of directors.

One of the most memorable incidents in the careers of the brothers is the time the bank was robbed of $13,804.71 Jan. 12, 1931.

Thugs went to the home of Levi Cole, assistant cashier of the bank, about 4:30 o'clock in the morning. Two robbers took Mr. and Mrs. Cole to the bank and held them there, bound and blindfolded.

Shortly after 7 o'clock Levi was forced to open the bank vault after the time lock was released. When James, then bookkeeper, reached the bank he was nabbed and gagged and blindfolded. Then he was tied up with some wire. This took place about 8:45.

Levi was forced to open the second bank vault which had been released by that time. The robbers sacked up all the available loot.

About that time W. C. Black, bank president, and Sheriff John Fry walked in the front door. They too were bound and gagged.

Mr. Black was able to turn his head in such a manner that James Cole was able to rip away Mr. Black's blindfold. Mr. Black made it to a phone, knocked the receiver off the hook and spread the alarm.

The robbers wore masks. They were never convicted although there was no doubt in the minds of the victims as to who pulled off the job.

The James Coles have one son, Robert, who is an aeronautical engineer with Ling-Temco in Dallas.

James has held offices in the Chamber of Commerce, was treasurer of the Randall County Cancer Drive for several years, is a past master of the Masonic Lodge here, is an elder in First Presbyterian Church and has served in that capacity and others for the church for more than 30 years. He is a life member of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society.

His plans for retirement? "I intend to improve my golf game," he declared.

ter of the bride. Miss Julie Holcomb acted as flower girl, carrying a basket of yellow rose petals and wearing a floor-length gown matching those of the attendants.

Lighting candles were Rita Perrin and Nancy Sorenson. Their dresses were similar to those of the attendants.

Best man was Allen Holcomb, and groomsmen were Mike Anderson and Larry Estes. Paul and Bruce Willenburgh served as ushers.

Escorted down the aisle by her father, the bride chose for her wedding, an organza gown of A-line design, fashioned with a Sabrina neckline and long tapered sleeves terminating in the traditional bridal points. Re-embroidered Alencon lace adorned the Empire bodice and lavishly edged the chapel length, detachable Redingote organza overskirt. Her bouffant scalloped and beaded veil of silk illusion was held by a flower of tulle and pearl petals. Her bouquet was of yellow sweetheart roses with a detachable corsage and roses which were presented to her friends.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church basement. Serving were college friends of the bride and Mrs. Ralph Higgins, professor at Kearney State College. The guestbook table was covered with Belgium lace purchased by the bride during her European tour in 1966. The bride's bouquet accented the table.

For the wedding trip to the mountains of New Mexico, Mrs. Sikes was attired in a dress of blue and white linen, and she wore hand carved jewelry, a gift of the bridegroom during his tour of duty in Germany with the Air Force.

The bride is a 1964 graduate of Broken Bow High School, and a January 1968 graduate of Kearney State College, Kearney, Nebraska. She was affiliated with Kappa Omicron Phi, National Home Economics Honorary; Kappa Delta Pi, Educational Honorary; College Home Economics Club, Inter-Dorm Council, Student Council, Academic Affairs Council, and United Campus Christian Fellowship. She was also named to Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. The bride spent the past semester teaching home economics in Dix, Nebraska.

A 1964 graduate of Canyon High School, the bridegroom joined the Air Force in June of that year. He was graduated from Missile Electronics Guidance Technician's School and was then assigned to Hahn Air Base in West Germany where he attended the European Division of the University of Maryland. In addition, he is a graduate of USAFI College GED Tests. Presently he is employed as an aircraft electrician by Bell Helicopter of Amarillo.

Special guest at the wedding was Agnes Hejl, a friend of the bride, from Bremen, Germany.

Unusal Promotion For James Kievit

James Kievit will be attending West Point just as he always wanted, but much sooner than was previously expected.

Kievit, a 1968 graduate of Canyon High School where he was manager for the football and participated on the track team, planned to enter US Army basic training, then graduate from prep school for West Point.

He passed all the entrance examinations earlier this year for West Point, but was not chosen to receive a Congressional appointment to the military training academy.

JAMES KIEVIT

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Kievit, realizing there was no vacancy, joined the US Army and had spent a total of three weeks in basic training at Fort Bliss in El Paso when he was notified that Congressman Bob Price had arranged a special appointment to West Point.

"It was quite unusual," Kievit said. "So unusual that when I was taking basic training at Fort Bliss, they had to get orders from Washington to release me."

Kievit, whose brother Don graduated from West Point in 1966 after having taken the prep school route, said he would be commissioned as a second lieutenant in the US Army upon completion of training at West Point. Following his tenure there, he will be in the service for a five-year stint of active duty.

Ordered to report July 1 to West Point, Kievit said he would receive probably the usual basic training during the months of July and August he was undergoint at Fort Bliss at El Paso.

"Quite a few wanted to go with me," Kievit said of those who were also in basic training at Fort Bliss when he left, "but others said I would probably have a tougher time than they would at the Point."

The first three weeks at Fort Bliss, he explained, involved written examinations and manual of arms training.

Kievit's father is a retired colonel in the US Army and his brother, Don, is now a captain in Vietnam.

"I plan to follow in their footsteps," he said, "because I want to make the service my career."

The starting Buffalo roundballer attempted to miss another motorist who ran a stop sign, a Philadelphia report stated. Mr. Savage's automobile struck a telephone pole and he was killed instantly.

Reports also said he was alone at the time of the accident.
